As the air fermented,
the bubble kept you afloat.

Let the pictures here be that iridescent little light in their capsules of film

After four/five years inside the surface is wearing thin—
Lift your hands to the translucent walls and pop!

Letter from the Editors

Within the walls of these two buildings, the satellites that are our dorms and offices, the triangle of Cooper Square—these boundaries have provided a micro-cosmos, encasing us for a little while, for better or worse, in our own world: Our Bubble.

Bubbles are fragile, enclosed, iridescent, multiple, and impermanent. Like most college experiences, these last few years have felt vastly expansive yet isolating, never-ending yet too brief, brilliantly spectacular and yet riddled with trouble. Unlike most college experiences, we were able to leave impressions on the uniquely malleable surfaces that are this school's stories.

It's this weird paradox between being made by the school and making the school what it is that inspires us and keeps us going. This yearbook's theme is a dedication to Cooper's intimate scale, the places and people that made us and the places we've made—however brief and insubstantial, within them, we were able to imagine infinities.

While working on this year's Cable, we were lucky to experience yet another frustratingly necessary aspect of Cooper. We've spent many (many) hours photographing, designing, and editing to make this book a possibility: this is the second installation of the Cable following its pandemic-induced hiatus, and we hope that it continues as the second of many.

Thank you all for making these memories with us!

SPECIAL THANKS TO:

Mary, for continuing and extending the possibilities of The Cable with your constant support and well-timed morale boosts;

Jen, Justin, & the photo techs for your steady patience and willing assistance with our many, many photo shoots;

Jess & Sasha, our lovely Lubalin archivists, for your sharp eyes and boundless design wisdom;

Mark, Justin & the Trilon Graphics team for your extremely prompt email responses and for all your care and precision in making this book tangible.

And all of our friends and professors who we may not have named but have supported us along the way!

Education should be Free as Air and Water.

The Cooper Union was founded in 1859 by Peter Cooper with the mission of offering free education to all. In Fall of 2014, following a heavily protested decision, the school began charging tuition to undergraduate students. In January of 2018, the Free Education Committee of the Board of Trustees released a ten-year plan to return to full tuition scholarships for all undergraduates in the Fall of 2028.

The Class of 2025 is the first to graduate with a tuition-free senior year since 2014: a major milestone in the ambitious ten-year plan. We are deeply grateful for all the generous contributions that have made this possible, and especially for the contributions of George Reeves, Ross Wisniewski, John & Mary Manuck, and an anonymous alumnus donor. We hold the Cooper Union to its promise and commitment to making higher education accessible for all students.
